BOB MARTINAGE

PRINCIPAL

Bob Martinage has extensive experience as a senior defense official and a leading analyst of operations in high-end threat environments, special operations, and strategic deterrence. He served as the Deputy Under Secretary of the Navy from 2010-2013 and as Principal Deputy Secretary of Defense for Special Operations, Low-Intensity Conflict and Interdependent capabilities from 2009 to 2010.

As Deputy Under Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Martinage provided senior-level advice on foreign and defense policy, naval capability and readiness issues, security policy, intelligence oversight, and special programs and activities. He chaired the Naval Intelligence Council, oversaw the Department of the Navy (DoN) military intelligence program, and represented the DoN on the Defense Space Council and Nuclear Weapons Council. While performing the duties of the Under Secretary of Navy, Mr. Martinage led the development of the FY 2014/2015 budgets for the DoN and represented the Department during the Strategic Choices and Management Review (SCMR), as well as within the Defense Management Action Group (DMAG).

Prior to his service in the Navy Secretariat, Mr. Martinage served as Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Special Operations, Low-Intensity Conflict and Interdependent Capabilities in the Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD), focusing on policy issues involving special operations, irregular warfare, counter-terrorism, security force assistance, and conventional force planning. During his tenure in OSD, Mr. Martinage successfully led a two-year, DoD-wide effort, directed by the Secretary of Defense, to develop an investment path for a future long-range strike “family of systems,” which culminated in major investment decisions regarding intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance; electronic attack; and long-range strike capabilities.

Prior to joining Telemus Group, he served as a Senior Fellow at the Center for Strategic and Budgetary Assessments (CSBA). Mr. Martinage holds a MA from The Fletcher School of Law & Diplomacy with fields of concentration in International Security Studies, Southwest Asia, International Negotiation & Conflict Resolution, and Civilization & Foreign Affairs. Mr. Martinage earned his BA cum laude from Dartmouth College in Government with concentrations in International Relations and Political Theory & Public Law.
